FEATURE FILM, DRAMA

NEW

The Last Rhapsody is an exciting, fast-moving and heart-rending film rich with deep emotions. It recalls the final days in the life of one of history's greatest composers and the eternal mystery of the relationship between artist and muse. It is a story of passionate love, death and immortality and of unconditional devotion. In 1911, to mark the centenary of Ferenc Liszt's birth and the 25th anniversary of his death, a Budapest theatre is preparing for the premiere of a play recalling the composer's final days in Bayreuth. On one occasion a mysterious woman appears during a rehearsal, asserting that the play does not correspond to reality, that Liszt did not die in the manner known from various novels and recollections. The actors want to learn the truth, and so the woman reveals the painfully beautiful relationship between Liszt and one of his last pupils, Lina Schmalhausen, which lasted from the middle of the 1870s to his death. The captivating film is set in three different periods of time – 1886, the year Liszt died, the preceding ten years and 1911 – in Bayreuth and Budapest. It also recalls Liszt's friendship with Richard Wagner.

ZSOLNAY – THE LOVER OF THE SOIL

ZSOLNAY – A FÖLD SZERETŐJE

NEW

FEATURE FILM, DRAMA

The film relates to the life and career of Vilmos Zsolnay (1828-1900), a world-famous potter, founder of modern Hungarian ceramics, and inventor of the lustrous glaze known as eosin. Set in the second half of the 19th century, we visit Hungary during an era of great technical advancement and intellectual prosperity. Zsolnay's father wants the young Vilmos to become a merchant but his exuberant son has very different plans. He tries his hand at painting, imagines his future in art and spends much of his time talking to his long-dead sister in her room. Then an enigmatic old man from Italy appears who has haunted him since his teenage years. Vilmos's brother, himself a man of the world, founds a pottery in the town but fails to find contentment in his work and so eventually leaves the factory to Vilmos. It is then that the mysterious Italian gives Vilmos the secret recipe for the glaze to a vase from Gubbio, which radically changes the course of Vilmos Zsolnay's life. From this point on, the film recounts the journey of self-discovery of a man whose name later becomes known all over the world. Zsolnay's life is one of love and tragedy, filled with conflict and passion, and all set in the 19th-century Hungary as envisaged by the renowned costume designer Marianne Wieber. Vilmos Zsolnay achieves his goal and keeps the secret entrusted to him -but will there be someone to pass it onto? And at what price? The film was made as a priority programme for the PÉCS 2010 Capital of Culture series of events. Also with English, German and Italian subtitled copies.

FEATURE FILM, DRAMA

NEW

On May 5, 1936, celebrated author Frigyes Karinthy undergoes brain surgery in Stockholm. Frici, a 16-year-old boy appears before him in the operating theatre. Karinthy sees himself. The young man beckons the writer, who is drifting between life and death, into a strange world. The author's childhood experiences come alive before him - the same experiences he had earlier immortalised in his novel Tanár úr kérem (Please Sir!). The oppressive proximity of his passing brings a new perspective to these nostalgic reminiscences. Karinthy wonders in consternation through this inverted world as Frici falls in love, becomes embroiled in conflict with his teacher, fails Hungarian class and appears destined for military school. Eventually, he too develops into a writer. Only one question remains: Was Karinthy's operation a success and will he return to the world of the living?

WORK MATTERS MUNKAÜGYEK

COMEDY, UNREALITY SHOW

NEW

A sitcom of 25-minute episodes about everyday life within the Labour Inspectorate as it faces an audit from Brussels. Precision, competency, professionalism. These words form the least apt description of the Labour Inspectorate and its staff, who – even in the middle of the greatest chaos – tend to make their own trifling problems and personal conflicts a priority above their work, which is not effective in the first place.

At the top is Elvira, a chain smoker terrified of retirement who dictates her e-mails. Her right-hand man is János, the chief of department – a small-minded and uptight bureaucrat. János's best friend is the sneaky Albert, an alcoholic whose attempts to solve problems inevitably only generate more of them. Both of them are perpetually hounded by Katalin, a single, presentation-addicted HR harpy, the preacher of the multicultural organization's formalities. They are supported by Timi, a ditzy secretary floating about in a mist of pink post-it notes, Imre, a clumsy, cowardly security guard, and Karesz, a layabout intern who would smoke the paper glue if he could. The only professional in the team is Tamás, a consultant hired ahead of an audit to be carried out by the supervisory authority of the European Union. He later returns to the bureau as a ministerial commissioner to oversee improvement. The bureau staff spare no effort to improve their results and modernise their procedures. They organise a training session, start renovations, undertake restructuring, announce an open day and try to implement harmonized monitoring, but it's all in vain. It seems like everything and everyone is against them. Meanwhile, the date of the audit approaches fast...

BLACK TOWN FEKETE VÁROS

DRAMA

The multiple threaded story starts on the eve of the 18th century. Pál Görgy is the sub prefect of Szepes County. Having become widowed early, he is a lonesome savage with nonplussed spirit, waiting for the New Year in a gloomy mood while Lőcse city salutes the new born century with a convivial evening. The New Year's Eve party of the town councillors was also disturbed by an ominous prognostic of lead casting. Next day the New Year hunt ends in tragedy. This is how a long struggle starts: the sub prefect fights for the authority of the patrician county, then for his own survival. The citizens of Lőcse fight for their Saxon privilege and for the interests of the city. The terrible discordance blinds the selfish participants so much that they don't see the lustre of the Rákóczi war of independence. Majority of the shots were taken at original locations of Levoca, Spissky Region, Banska Bystica, Bratislava, Topolcany and at the picturesque Czech-Moravian border-city, Telc.

THE SIPSIRICA

A SIPSIRICA

ADVENTURE

The film starts in an idyllic milieu, in the White Peacock, the garden restaurant of the Polish immigrant, Mrs. Jahodovszka in the Tabán district of Buda, where the adolescent daughter of the landlady, Sipsirica is always around the chatting regulars' tables. One day, the regulars wait for the innocent little girl with her sunshine bright smile in vain: her strict mother sends her from the "city of sins" to Krakow to her aunt to the deepest disappointment of teacher Druzbsa, the godfather of Sipsirica. The school duties of teacher Druzbsa, however, soon call him to Upper-Hungary. On the road, he discovers something that not just outrages him, but makes a rebel of the honest puritan teacher. When he is back home, he makes every effort to unveil the situation and thus becomes confronted with the power which does not spare anyone who dares to challenge it. It is just like if the writer, Kálmán Mikszáth, recorded his own story of development from the loss of illusions for the liberalism of the gentry-Hungary to bitter disappointment.

ON THE SPOT – Tribes and Warriors

ON THE SPOT – Harcosok és Törzsek

NEW

DOCUMENTARY SERIES

Eszter Cseke and Andras Takacs, the digital journalists and documentary filmmakers of the series 'On The Spot', have covered together the hot spots of the planet with only two handycams, without a crew. With the motto of Robert Capa in mind 'if your photographs are not good enough, you're not close enough'.

In the first six episodes, six tribes are introduced. Eszter and Andras visit communities and cultures that have no connection with our civilization if there is still such a place on Earth. They travel from Africa to Indonesia to meet ordinary people living in tribes to live with them, to find out how they live their lives from hunting to religious rituals, to get to know how they think those people who live far from our culture and style.

In the last four episodes warriors are introduced. In the previous series Eszter and Andras already filmed terrorists, professional bodyguards, foreign legionaries, mountain fighters of the US Army in the most extreme conditions from the front line of Afghanistan to the Middle East and the South American rain forests. Now they focus on the nature of fight and war in itself and also that of the fighter no matter it is a professional soldier or a masked armed man anywhere in the world.

BABEL - The World through Hesna's eyes

BÁBEL - Hesnával a világ

DOCUMENTARY SERIES

NEW

A world around us where the most stunning things can happen. And a reporter who goes and finds and brings these stories to us. Exactly the way they happened. She does not add or takes away anything from them.

This is BABEL – The World Through Hesna's Eyes.

A monthly, 50 minute programme that presents amazing stories and fascinating people from all around the world. It features systems, trends that we hear a lot about and which shape our everyday lives - but we're not always aware exactly how.

Each episode presents one major topic through the lives of different people. People who are sometimes outstanding, sometimes just ordinary. Personalities who are sometimes brilliant, sometimes controversial.

And Hesna wants real answers, not shallow responses – because Hesna is CURIOS. She wants to know the triggers behind the events and see the true motives of someone becoming a hero or a traitor. She picks up fragments of looks, moves and words from distant parts of the world and searches for the simple TRUTH in the confusion of Babel. Not for more, not for less.

Because the best stories are directed by LIFE.

PALACES IN HUNGARY - MAIN SQUARE

KASTÉLYOK MAGYARORSZÁGON

DOCUMENTARY

The atmosphere of historical past, baronial comfort, old stories and secrets make a time journey even more exciting when we visit palaces. In Hungary solitary palaces in the country, more or less supplied with defence works were started to be built only in the 17th century. Most of the palaces were built after the total expulsion of the Turks, in the period of the Rococo style in the 19th century. On the territory of Hungary there used to be 4500 palaces and manor houses, a lot of which were destroyed by the storms of history, but the century-old walls of about 3500 buildings are still intact. Nowadays more than fifty of the old palaces and manor houses have become hotels the guests of which can simultaneously enjoy the atmosphere of the historical past, luxury and all the pampering of body and soul our modern age can offer. The programme presents some of the Hungarian palaces.
